VINCOTECH TO EXTEND COOPERATION WITH TSV HACHING

-- Stepping up its sponsorship of TSV Haching München's Bundesliga volleyball team, Vincotech is again bringing its commitment to quality and competitive spirit to the sporting arena --

Unterhaching, Germany, August 7, 2023. Vincotech, a provider of power modules for Renewable Energy, Power Supply and Motion Control applications based in Unterhaching, is set to intensify its cooperation with TSV Haching München. The company is nurturing its ties to the community by supporting a local professional sports club that competes at the highest professional level.

A year after first committing to TSV Haching München's Bundesliga volleyball team, Vincotech has opted to step up its sponsorship role. This extended and intensified cooperation goes to help recruit promising players for the season ahead. Vincotech strives to have a strong presence in the sporting area by pursuing joint activities with the local club.

Vincotech's business motto – Speed & Flexibility – certainly carries over to the court, where the difference between winning and losing is often down to quick reaction time. But TSV Haching München and Vincotech share more than just the home town and dynamic spirit. The club and company both relish the competition in a hotly contested arena. They also take pride in their strong, capable teams, making this sponsorship deal a perfect match for both partners.

Explaining Vincotech's decision, CEO Eckart Seitter says, "TSV Haching München is such a positive force in and beyond the community. We are proud to be stepping up our commitment to this exciting team of young, ambitious players. The potential of these up-and-coming athletes is there for all to see; their hard work and well-earned progress is an inspiration to us. With that in mind, Vincotech is going to pursue more joint activities to raise the company's profile and make our mark on elite sports."

Commenting on Vincotech's renewed commitment, TSV Haching München's managing director Mihai Paduretu says, "I am delighted with Vincotech's extended cooperation for the upcoming season. I personally thank Eckart Seitter and his team, and will again warmly welcome them to our hall for the start of the season."

The German Volleyball Bundesliga season starts in October 2023. Vincotech wishes every sporting success to TSV Haching München. The company hopes to see many familiar faces at matches and looks forward to offering plenty of vocal support from the bleachers.
